

Peter Gray Profile

Peter has been a resident of Ontario, Canada since completing his studies in Animal Science at the University of Guelph. He has since established his own training centres in Canada at “Stonehill Farm” and “Wentworth Farm” in Ocala, Florida, offering year round training for horses and riders.

His training is diverse and Peter has a special interest in training and producing young horses following classical training principles in both dressage and show jumping. This has made him a popular clinician throughout North America in eventing, dressage, jumping and equitation.

As a competitor, Peter has competed in three Olympic games, two World Equestrian Games, is a Pan Am individual bronze medalist and has competed at most top events in Europe including Badminton, Burghley, Le Lion d’Angers, Saumur, Boekolo, Luhmuhlen, Punchestown and Rolex in the USA.

In addition to his eventing Peter has campaigned three different horses at the FEI level of dressage enabling him to debut at the grand prix level.

Peter is also a keen educator and involved as an evaluator of high performance coaches in Canada and an advisor to the USEA ICP program. He was national Olympic coach for the Canadian Eventing Team from 1996-2000 and since then has coached Pan Am teams from Venezuela in 2011, Guatemala in 2015 and currently is coaching the national team of Columbia.

Peter has organized several coaching symposiums and clinics with the world’s best and co-founded the competition management company “Equiventures” which ran multiple national and FEI events at the Florida Horse Park from 2009-2015.

His all round experience as a high performance rider, coach and trainer has seated him on many international committees including the FEI Eventing Committee, a member of the board of governors for the USEA and Chair for Eventing in Equestrian Canada. More recently Peter has embarked on an additional career as an eventing official and has quickly reached the level of “S” judge in the USA and Canada and was recently privileged with a promotion to the 4* level as a FEI eventing judge.
